
ROOTS,

BISCUITS.

3.
 HANKSTOWN.
 Monthly, etc.
BDIVISION.
 Rookwood.

Torrens Title.
 and CO., LD., 217 PITT-STREET.
 R O F S A L K AND SUBURBAN PROPERTIES
 to be
 LD BY PUBLIC AUCTION
 Rooms, Pitt-street, at 11.30 A.M.
 TO-MORROW (FRIDAY).
 ST.—Residence, No. 236 Victoria-street, West, Upper William-street South and adjacent, Deed Estate,
 No. 567 Bowling-green, near O'Connell sq., Executors' sale.

1. Shop, No. 25 Brougham-street,
 Coopers' Warehouse.
 2. Two Shops and Dwellings, No. 328 and King-street, opposite Church-street,
 Owners' sale.
 3. Shop, No. 29 Lennon-street, Executors of the late John Lennon.
 4. Shop and Land, Brown-street, between
 St. John's Willam-street, Executors' sale.
 5. Shop, No. 10, Edinborough-street,
 Hume, No. 7, South-street, at rear, shop and Dwelling and Oxford-street, Executors of the late John Hume.
 6. Two Shops and Dwellings, Percival-street,
 Railway-station.
 7. Shop, "Melford," Cananda-street, between St. John's Willam-street, Executors'

Shop and Dwelling, No. 66 Young-street.	P. V. R
School. Mortgages' sale.	P. V. R
Water-Fountain Residence, "The Water-fountain."	P. V. R
Warehouse, 2nd street, Lane Cross Street.	P. V. R
Shop and Dwelling, No. 21 John-street.	P. V. R
Store, George street. Leasehold. Mortgage's sale.	P. V. R
Shop and Dwelling, No. 89 Elizabeth-street, near to Bedford Park. Mortgage's sale.	Hate's
Shop and Dwelling, No. 7 Green-street. Leasehold. Mortgage's sale.	P. V. R
Cottages, Nos. 72 and 73 Orchard-street. Leasehold. Mortgage's sale.	P. V. R
SHEDDALE—Cottage, No. 108 Amundson-avenue. Householder's sale.	P. V. R
	EX.

-Cottage, No. 10 Reel-street, between Ruby and Gary streets. Executors' sale.
 -Medford road, between Ruby and -street and Baldwin-road. Executors'
 -All-tment, Hlawara-road, south of road, Meek's Lot. Executors'
 -Lillian Cottage, No. 83 Carlton-
 Executors' sale.
 -Block, 1st and 2nd street and Bay-
 Executors' sale.
 -residence, "Willandra," on Mt. Erving Block on Mt. Wilma.

lotment. Calaverita road, close to dwell-road.
BRANDS—'Newland', and Two Blocks of land, total area 64 to 46, Lane Cove-road, Williams, and Archer streets, and away from Executives' sale.
BRANDS—Residence, near Macquarie-rail and Hastings-street. Jorgen's sale.
BRANDS—An allotment, Alfred-street and Albion, Northcote.
BRANDS—Fronting Kaplanade, Hastings Estate.
BRANDS—The Exchange Hall, Rocky Point-road,
Rockdale station.
BRANDS—House and land 16 per. Absolute sale.
BRANDS—House and land 16 per. Absolute sale.

BLOCKS Land, near Kenneth road, and
E. Kohnen road, Westworth Estate.
RICHARDSON AND WRENCH, Ltd.

HOMEBUSH,
Close Trains, Healthy Climate,
All Lifts, Close to Station.
FIVE HOUSES OVER 600 ft. GROUNDS,
SATURDAY, 18th OCTOBER, at 3 o'clock.

TOWNHOMES
Each 50 feet x 500 feet.
ROAD, 4 lots, section 4.
ROAD, 5 lots, section 15.
ROAD, 5 lots, section 8.
ROAD, 6 lots, section 5.

ROAD, 7 lots, section 2.
THRENT, 2 lots, sections 2 and 4.
ROAD, 1 lot, section 4.
ROAD, 2 lots, section 1.
ROAD, 1 lot, section 4.

E. Easy terms, 10 per cent. deposit, in three months, balance half-yearly payments at 5 per cent. interest.

Recently, Girt sold
Brent Railway Suburb, having the fullest and WRENCH, Ltd.

(1199)

EMPIRE LAND SALE.
 CLOSE TO THE STATION, TO BE SOLD CHEAP.
 BEAMISH ESTATE.
 By Tickets for 1.20 and 2.50 train.
SATURDAY NEXT.
 AND WRENCH, LTD.
 IN BANKRUPTCY.

MICHAEL BENEDICT MAGILL
THURSDAY, AT 10.30 A.M. PROMPT.
 1st ROOMS, 86 PITT-STREET.
FOR THE OFFICIAL ASSIGNEE.

ARTIST ASSIGNEE'S RIGHT, TITLE, and my, in, and to a lease dated August 1, one (1) acre of land, situate Victoria,
 known as the Ryedman Nursery,
 5000 Pot Plants and 500 Plants in the Terms Cash.

 1033.
 Sydney Mail.
 Illustrations depict current events at home and abroad, and are drawn and colored by the best local artists.
 Progressive Subjects.—Domestic and Foreign.
 Monday, Next, H. and W. Ltd.
 AND MISSING FRIENDS.
 The above
 List as a

PAINTERS.—If you want best quality lowest cost buy from JAMES MANNING and Co.,
220-224 George-street.
SOLIKEMINISD by Rev. Dr. Zellman, at residence, 861 Pitt-st, on new railway associated with any agency. Fee, 4s.

TELEPH. PAINTERS, Etc., Union
Marshall, dental, 35 Wyndy and speakers for Mutual Benefit Company
Union No 601 per 1901 to y.o.

W. CUMMIS without opinion, no de work or dependence upon him. 2 to 4 Mon. Wed. Sat. 7 to 9 p.m.
Angus, M.H.C.S., 117 E. 7th St.

DEAF?

HERE'S A NEW HELP
greater help than has been before in
THE ELECTRIC.

Other devices have been trying to do this, but a actual makes the set itself easy to adjust, and comfortable.

E. L. R. VERNON CO.
HUNTER STREET, SYDNEY.
"MILK CHOCOLATE" and "pure excellence."

Anglo-Milma Winton and G. F. W. Winton, 200A George-st., S. B. 272.

Well-known and long-gone. "Milk Chocolate" of importers now obtainable in "Milk Chocolate" easy pure. White and dark. Goldsmiths, Gillsch, 7 Moore, Sydney, too late. Thursday, as usual.

LAIL's present Address: 97 Glenmore
 Road, Patients Rest,
 Wingham, Private Detective Office,
 Rel. male and female debts, emph.
 Antisubversive Mantle; will obtain documents, emph. George H. Burt, 101
 St. George's, formerly Burt, 101 St. George's, formerly Burt, 101 St. George's, McMan, formerly of 77 Flinderster in Perkins and Ewbery, 129 Pin-would like meet honourable man
 Address M. R., Annandale Post-off.

BY FIREWORKS, and by the music is well known of all Larkley Next, Drentid V. 11th
 creative Suburb, Drentid V. 11th
 RDAY NEXT, R. and W. 1st
 KINGSBURY ESTATE, NEWTON
 SALE, NEXT SATURDAY
 ROAD, and PURVER 1st
 creative Suburb, Drentid V. 11th
 RDAY NEXT, R. and W. 1st

s-page1329628

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

CONTINUOUS ARTILLERY DUEL.

JAPANESE PLANK TURNED.

RETREAT TO YENTAI.

CONCENTRATION ON A NARROW FRONT.

THE DEFENSERS REPULSED.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT MINED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Russians under General Kurapatkin are crossing the Hunho, four miles south of Mukden.

An artillery duel is in progress on the Hunho right, 32 miles from Mukden, and also at the centre.

The Japanese have been pressed back.

Oct. 12.

No official news of the Russian advance has been received.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Russians crossed the Hunho river after a severe artillery duel on Sunday and captured General Kuroki's position.

The Russian right and centre were engaged, and the Japanese were within cannon range at all points, and individual batteries were constantly engaged.

The Japanese are retreating, and it is expected that when decisive operations begin the Yentai mines will be their extreme right, while their left flank will be slightly west of the railway, altogether a front of about 10 miles.

A telegram from Tokio claims that General Kuroki has been strongly reinforced, that he has recaptured the positions, and that he has checked the Russian advance in this campaign has occupied Sa-ha-pu, midway between Yentai and Mukden, and in doing so lost 200 men.

The engagement was fought in a driving duststorm, which was right in the faces of the Japanese. Bitter cold weather prevails, and many of the soldiers are frost-bitten.

As officer of the Russian general staff the Comrade of General Kuroki north of Peking, 35 miles east of north of Liao-yang, after a long engagement, the Japanese abandoned four entrenched positions.

The Japanese admit that they lost 250 men. They claim to have captured several guns.

The Japanese ambushed a column (squadron) of Cossacks at Miatse and wounded a colonel and 45 men.

A French correspondent at St. Petersburg says that General Kurapatkin has telegraphed that he intends to advance slowly in order to be sure. General Kurapatkin believes that General Kuroki is retreating to Liao-yang, where a battle will be fought shortly.

THE CZAR'S COMMAND.

After Admiral Alexeiev, the Russian Viceroy, and General Kurapatkin had conferred at Mukden on the 9th inst., the Russian immediately assumed the offensive.

When Admiral Alexeiev telegraphed that the Russian Viceroy had directed General Kurapatkin to light to the last.

VLADIVOSTOK THREATENED.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh reports that the Japanese have sent two divisions to Liao-yang, one to defend the coast, and another to follow this force to make a demonstration against Vladivostok.

KUROPATKIN'S OBJECT.

St. Petersburg, October 11.

It is believed that the true intention of General Kurapatkin is to draw the Russian army of the home authorities to galvanize the patriotism of the people owing to their unwillingness of the reserves to join the colours.

BATTLE OF LIAO-ANG.

A REMARKABLE STORY.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," reporting from Shanghai, states that in the battle of Liao-ang Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, ordered a retreat, but that Field Marshal Nodzu, commanding the centre, begged for a final effort, and succeeded in compelling the Russian to retreat though he sacrificed the 2nd and 3rd Divisions.

It is expected, Mr. Burleigh adds, that Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will be recalled, ostensibly on account of the defeat, but that they will actually be sent to winter quarters and that Field Marshal Nodzu will command the campaign.

SIEGE OPERATIONS.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIAN SORTIES.

JAPANESE GUNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

After the Russians made a sortie from Taku Bay, east by north of Port Arthur, they seized and re-occupied the heights there. The Japanese subsequently attempted to dislodge the Russians, but failed to do so.

Oct. 12.

Desperate sorties were made by the garrison of Port Arthur on the 5th and 6th inst. Russians claim to have repulsed the Japanese four times, and to have captured 1000 prisoners.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," writing from Shanghai, states that the Japanese do not expect to capture Port Arthur under a month.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT FOUNDED.

NEARLY 300 LIVES LOST.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Belated news has been received of the loss of the Japanese gunboat Seno, 200 tons, in Pigeon Bay, west of Port Arthur, on September 18. The vessel was on guard-duty in the bay at the time. At 10 p.m. a storm, she struck a mine, and exploded, with a loss of nearly 300 lives. The mine exploded under the stern of the vessel, and she was completely wrecked. The crew then jumped overboard and were nearly all drowned by the heavy seas.

Only two petty officers and two sailors

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

CONTINUOUS ARTILLERY DUEL.

JAPANESE PLANK TURNED.

RETREAT TO YENTAI.

CONCENTRATION ON A NARROW FRONT.

THE DEFENSERS REPULSED.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT MINED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Russians under General Kurapatkin are crossing the Hunho, four miles south of Mukden.

An artillery duel is in progress on the Hunho right, 32 miles from Mukden, and also at the centre.

The Japanese have been pressed back.

Oct. 12.

No official news of the Russian advance has been received.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Russians crossed the Hunho river after a severe artillery duel on Sunday and captured General Kuroki's position.

The Russian right and centre were engaged, and the Japanese were within cannon range at all points, and individual batteries were constantly engaged.

The Japanese are retreating, and it is expected that when decisive operations begin the Yentai mines will be their extreme right, while their left flank will be slightly west of the railway, altogether a front of about 10 miles.

A telegram from Tokio claims that General Kuroki has been strongly reinforced, that he has recaptured the positions, and that he has checked the Russian advance in this campaign has occupied Sa-ha-pu, midway between Yentai and Mukden, and in doing so lost 200 men.

The engagement was fought in a driving duststorm, which was right in the faces of the Japanese. Bitter cold weather prevails, and many of the soldiers are frost-bitten.

As officer of the Russian general staff the Comrade of General Kuroki north of Peking, 35 miles east of north of Liao-yang, after a long engagement, the Japanese abandoned four entrenched positions.

The Japanese admit that they lost 250 men. They claim to have captured several guns.

The Japanese ambushed a column (squadron) of Cossacks at Miatse and wounded a colonel and 45 men.

A French correspondent at St. Petersburg says that General Kurapatkin has telegraphed that he intends to advance slowly in order to be sure. General Kurapatkin believes that General Kuroki is retreating to Liao-yang, where a battle will be fought shortly.

THE CZAR'S COMMAND.

After Admiral Alexeiev, the Russian Viceroy, and General Kurapatkin had conferred at Mukden on the 9th inst., the Russian immediately assumed the offensive.

When Admiral Alexeiev telegraphed that the Russian Viceroy had directed General Kurapatkin to light to the last.

VLADIVOSTOK THREATENED.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh reports that the Japanese have sent two divisions to Liao-yang, one to defend the coast, and another to follow this force to make a demonstration against Vladivostok.

KUROPATKIN'S OBJECT.

St. Petersburg, October 11.

It is believed that the true intention of General Kurapatkin is to draw the Russian army of the home authorities to galvanize the patriotism of the people owing to their unwillingness of the reserves to join the colours.

BATTLE OF LIAO-ANG.

A REMARKABLE STORY.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," reporting from Shanghai, states that in the battle of Liao-ang Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, ordered a retreat, but that Field Marshal Nodzu, commanding the centre, begged for a final effort, and succeeded in compelling the Russian to retreat though he sacrificed the 2nd and 3rd Divisions.

It is expected, Mr. Burleigh adds, that Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will be recalled, ostensibly on account of the defeat, but that they will actually be sent to winter quarters and that Field Marshal Nodzu will command the campaign.

SIEGE OPERATIONS.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIAN SORTIES.

JAPANESE GUNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

After the Russians made a sortie from Taku Bay, east by north of Port Arthur, they seized and re-occupied the heights there. The Japanese subsequently attempted to dislodge the Russians, but failed to do so.

Oct. 12.

Desperate sorties were made by the garrison of Port Arthur on the 5th and 6th inst. Russians claim to have repulsed the Japanese four times, and to have captured 1000 prisoners.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," writing from Shanghai, states that the Japanese do not expect to capture Port Arthur under a month.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT FOUNDED.

NEARLY 300 LIVES LOST.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Belated news has been received of the loss of the Japanese gunboat Seno, 200 tons, in Pigeon Bay, west of Port Arthur, on September 18. The vessel was on guard-duty in the bay at the time. At 10 p.m. a storm, she struck a mine, and exploded, with a loss of nearly 300 lives. The mine exploded under the stern of the vessel, and she was completely wrecked. The crew then jumped overboard and were nearly all drowned by the heavy seas.

Only two petty officers and two sailors

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

CONTINUOUS ARTILLERY DUEL.

JAPANESE PLANK TURNED.

RETREAT TO YENTAI.

CONCENTRATION ON A NARROW FRONT.

THE DEFENSERS REPULSED.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT MINED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Russians under General Kurapatkin are crossing the Hunho, four miles south of Mukden.

An artillery duel is in progress on the Hunho right, 32 miles from Mukden, and also at the centre.

The Japanese have been pressed back.

Oct. 12.

No official news of the Russian advance has been received.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Russians crossed the Hunho river after a severe artillery duel on Sunday and captured General Kuroki's position.

The Russian right and centre were engaged, and the Japanese were within cannon range at all points, and individual batteries were constantly engaged.

The Japanese are retreating, and it is expected that when decisive operations begin the Yentai mines will be their extreme right, while their left flank will be slightly west of the railway, altogether a front of about 10 miles.

A telegram from Tokio claims that General Kuroki has been strongly reinforced, that he has recaptured the positions, and that he has checked the Russian advance in this campaign has occupied Sa-ha-pu, midway between Yentai and Mukden, and in doing so lost 200 men.

The engagement was fought in a driving duststorm, which was right in the faces of the Japanese. Bitter cold weather prevails, and many of the soldiers are frost-bitten.

As officer of the Russian general staff the Comrade of General Kuroki north of Peking, 35 miles east of north of Liao-yang, after a long engagement, the Japanese abandoned four entrenched positions.

The Japanese admit that they lost 250 men. They claim to have captured several guns.

The Japanese ambushed a column (squadron) of Cossacks at Miatse and wounded a colonel and 45 men.

A French correspondent at St. Petersburg says that General Kurapatkin has telegraphed that he intends to advance slowly in order to be sure. General Kurapatkin believes that General Kuroki is retreating to Liao-yang, where a battle will be fought shortly.

THE CZAR'S COMMAND.

After Admiral Alexeiev, the Russian Viceroy, and General Kurapatkin had conferred at Mukden on the 9th inst., the Russian immediately assumed the offensive.

When Admiral Alexeiev telegraphed that the Russian Viceroy had directed General Kurapatkin to light to the last.

VLADIVOSTOK THREATENED.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh reports that the Japanese have sent two divisions to Liao-yang, one to defend the coast, and another to follow this force to make a demonstration against Vladivostok.

KUROPATKIN'S OBJECT.

St. Petersburg, October 11.

It is believed that the true intention of General Kurapatkin is to draw the Russian army of the home authorities to galvanize the patriotism of the people owing to their unwillingness of the reserves to join the colours.

BATTLE OF LIAO-ANG.

A REMARKABLE STORY.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," reporting from Shanghai, states that in the battle of Liao-ang Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, ordered a retreat, but that Field Marshal Nodzu, commanding the centre, begged for a final effort, and succeeded in compelling the Russian to retreat though he sacrificed the 2nd and 3rd Divisions.

It is expected, Mr. Burleigh adds, that Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will be recalled, ostensibly on account of the defeat, but that they will actually be sent to winter quarters and that Field Marshal Nodzu will command the campaign.

SIEGE OPERATIONS.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIAN SORTIES.

JAPANESE GUNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

After the Russians made a sortie from Taku Bay, east by north of Port Arthur, they seized and re-occupied the heights there. The Japanese subsequently attempted to dislodge the Russians, but failed to do so.

Oct. 12.

Desperate sorties were made by the garrison of Port Arthur on the 5th and 6th inst. Russians claim to have repulsed the Japanese four times, and to have captured 1000 prisoners.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," writing from Shanghai, states that the Japanese do not expect to capture Port Arthur under a month.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT FOUNDED.

NEARLY 300 LIVES LOST.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Belated news has been received of the loss of the Japanese gunboat Seno, 200 tons, in Pigeon Bay, west of Port Arthur, on September 18. The vessel was on guard-duty in the bay at the time. At 10 p.m. a storm, she struck a mine, and exploded, with a loss of nearly 300 lives. The mine exploded under the stern of the vessel, and she was completely wrecked. The crew then jumped overboard and were nearly all drowned by the heavy seas.

Only two petty officers and two sailors

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

CONTINUOUS ARTILLERY DUEL.

JAPANESE PLANK TURNED.

RETREAT TO YENTAI.

CONCENTRATION ON A NARROW FRONT.

THE DEFENSERS REPULSED.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT MINED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Russians under General Kurapatkin are crossing the Hunho, four miles south of Mukden.

An artillery duel is in progress on the Hunho right, 32 miles from Mukden, and also at the centre.

The Japanese have been pressed back.

Oct. 12.

No official news of the Russian advance has been received.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Russians crossed the Hunho river after a severe artillery duel on Sunday and captured General Kuroki's position.

The Russian right and centre were engaged, and the Japanese were within cannon range at all points, and individual batteries were constantly engaged.

The Japanese are retreating, and it is expected that when decisive operations begin the Yentai mines will be their extreme right, while their left flank will be slightly west of the railway, altogether a front of about 10 miles.

A telegram from Tokio claims that General Kuroki has been strongly reinforced, that he has recaptured the positions, and that he has checked the Russian advance in this campaign has occupied Sa-ha-pu, midway between Yentai and Mukden, and in doing so lost 200 men.

The engagement was fought in a driving duststorm, which was right in the faces of the Japanese. Bitter cold weather prevails, and many of the soldiers are frost-bitten.

As officer of the Russian general staff the Comrade of General Kuroki north of Peking, 35 miles east of north of Liao-yang, after a long engagement, the Japanese abandoned four entrenched positions.

The Japanese admit that they lost 250 men. They claim to have captured several guns.

The Japanese ambushed a column (squadron) of Cossacks at Miatse and wounded a colonel and 45 men.

A French correspondent at St. Petersburg says that General Kurapatkin has telegraphed that he intends to advance slowly in order to be sure. General Kurapatkin believes that General Kuroki is retreating to Liao-yang, where a battle will be fought shortly.

THE CZAR'S COMMAND.

After Admiral Alexeiev, the Russian Viceroy, and General Kurapatkin had conferred at Mukden on the 9th inst., the Russian immediately assumed the offensive.

When Admiral Alexeiev telegraphed that the Russian Viceroy had directed General Kurapatkin to light to the last.

VLADIVOSTOK THREATENED.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh reports that the Japanese have sent two divisions to Liao-yang, one to defend the coast, and another to follow this force to make a demonstration against Vladivostok.

KUROPATKIN'S OBJECT.

St. Petersburg, October 11.

It is believed that the true intention of General Kurapatkin is to draw the Russian army of the home authorities to galvanize the patriotism of the people owing to their unwillingness of the reserves to join the colours.

BATTLE OF LIAO-ANG.

A REMARKABLE STORY.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," reporting from Shanghai, states that in the battle of Liao-ang Field Marshal Oyama, the Japanese Commander-in-Chief, ordered a retreat, but that Field Marshal Nodzu, commanding the centre, begged for a final effort, and succeeded in compelling the Russian to retreat though he sacrificed the 2nd and 3rd Divisions.

It is expected, Mr. Burleigh adds, that Field Marshal Oyama and his staff will be recalled, ostensibly on account of the defeat, but that they will actually be sent to winter quarters and that Field Marshal Nodzu will command the campaign.

SIEGE OPERATIONS.

SUCCESS OF RUSSIAN SORTIES.

JAPANESE GUNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

After the Russians made a sortie from Taku Bay, east by north of Port Arthur, they seized and re-occupied the heights there. The Japanese subsequently attempted to dislodge the Russians, but failed to do so.

Oct. 12.

Desperate sorties were made by the garrison of Port Arthur on the 5th and 6th inst. Russians claim to have repulsed the Japanese four times, and to have captured 1000 prisoners.

Mr. Bennett Burleigh, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph," writing from Shanghai, states that the Japanese do not expect to capture Port Arthur under a month.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT FOUNDED.

NEARLY 300 LIVES LOST.

LONDON, Oct. 12.

Belated news has been received of the loss of the Japanese gunboat Seno, 200 tons, in Pigeon Bay, west of Port Arthur, on September 18. The vessel was on guard-duty in the bay at the time. At 10 p.m. a storm, she struck a mine, and exploded, with a loss of nearly 300 lives. The mine exploded under the stern of the vessel, and she was completely wrecked. The crew then jumped overboard and were nearly all drowned by the heavy seas.

Only two petty officers and two sailors

THE WAR.

THE RUSSIAN ADVANCE.

CONTINUOUS ARTILLERY DUEL.

JAPANESE PLANK TURNED.

RETREAT TO YENTAI.

CONCENTRATION ON A NARROW FRONT.

THE DEFENSERS REPULSED.

JAPANESE GUNBOAT MINED.

LONDON, Oct. 11.

The Russians under General Kurapatkin are crossing the Hunho, four miles south of Mukden.

An artillery duel is in progress on the Hunho right, 32 miles from Mukden, and also at the centre.

The Japanese have been pressed back.

Oct. 12.

No official news of the Russian advance has been received.

It is reported at St. Petersburg that the Russians crossed the Hunho river after a severe artillery duel on Sunday and captured General Kuroki's position.

The Russian right and centre were engaged, and the Japanese were within cannon range at all points, and individual batteries were constantly engaged.

The Japanese are retreating, and it is expected that when decisive operations begin the Yentai mines will be their extreme right, while their left flank will be slightly west of the railway, altogether a front of about 10 miles.

A telegram from Tokio claims that General Kuroki has been strongly reinforced, that he has recaptured the positions, and that he has checked the Russian advance in this campaign has occupied Sa-ha-pu, midway between Yentai and Mukden, and in doing so lost 200 men.

The engagement was fought in a driving duststorm, which was right in the faces of the Japanese. Bitter cold weather prevails, and many of the soldiers are frost-bitten.

